Old Sayings in Rhyme.

As poor as a church mouse,
As thin as a rail,
As fat as a pig,
As rough as a gale,
As lean as a lion,
As spry as a cat,
As bright as a sapphire,
As weak as a rat,
As proud as a peacock,
Asleep as a log,
As mad as a March hare,
As strong as an ox,
As fair as a lily,
As empty as a mill,
As rich as a crown,
As cross as a bear,
As pure as an angel,
As mad as a pike,
As smart as a stick,
As ugly as a sin,
As dead as a door nail,
As white as a sheet,
As fat as a pig,
As red as a beet,
As round as an apple,
As black as a bat,
As known as a turkey,
As killed as a bat,
As mean as a miser,
As full as a tick,
As plump as a partridge,
As sharp as a gall,
As clean as a penny,
As dark as a mill,
As hard as a million,
As bitter as gall,
As fine as a fiddle,

A Renowned Stranger.

He called himself Nevada Bowie Knife.

He sat in a saloon on Randolph street with a fur cap on his head, canvas shoes on his feet, and a knife and revolver in his belt.

On the table before him was the scalp of a Sioux warrior.

The warrior who used to wear it had gone out of the deathty business and become a shadow in the spirit land.

It wasn't the only scalp taken by Nevada Bowie Knife. The other two hundred were barreled up at home to keep them away from the moths.

To come down to business, N. B. K. had killed three hundred Indians, first and last, and he wasn't half through yet.

He was drinking a good deal of beer at the crowd's expense, and he was on the point of selling the scalp for five dollars, when in came a man who surveyed him closely and called out:

"Now you pull down your vest, old boy! You work in a cooper-shop on High street, live on Adams avenue, and that scalp was made of a piece of buffalo-robe stolen from a lively stable! Get out of here now, or I'll tell about your being in the H. use of Correction."

The Nevada Bowie Knife didn't say a word. Even when a stool hit him in the back he didn't raise an argument. He left behind him the scalp, a head pin-cushion, and a bad impression, and ere this, he has once more placed himself astride of his shave-horse and shaved, shaved, shaved the plant hoops to further suppleness.—[Detroit Free Press.

Four, Four Man.

"Have you any old clothes, mum, as you could give a poor man who has a sick wife and six small children to support?" inquired a dilapidated person last Saturday, at the door of a High Street residence.

"I've got a coat with but three buttons gone, and a pair of pants that have had but a small patch behind, which I guess you can have," said the good woman, after she had examined her closet.

"Is the coat double-breasted, with a velvet collar?" inquired the poor man.

"No, sir."

"Are the pants of a plaid pattern, and cut with a spring bottom of twenty-two inches?"

"No, sir."

"Then I guess you needn't trot 'em out," said the poor man. "They ain't my style, and I don't want 'em."

Resuming.

They looked sad, and doubtless felt so, as they stood up against the horse-rack.

"Times is hard," said one.

"Wuss than Confidant," the other responded.

"An' work's too exhausting."

"Hit draws a man down powerful."

"I never did see money so hard to get a flat on!"

"Yes, his skaser'n he's teeth."

"But I've got one fifty cent note left, you bet."

"Ah, well; I haint."

"Let's soak her right down for the drinks!"

"Now, that cou'd sumthin like re-sumation of business, that do!"

And they hid themselves behind the screen in a jiffy.—[Atlanta Sun.

A Lucky Veteran.

Years ago, Charles M. Lee was a great lawyer in Rochester, New York. On one occasion he was defending an old veteran for passing a forged promissory note for thirty dollars. There was scarcely a doubt of the man's guilt, but Lee, getting over the knotty points of the evidence as well as he could, undertook to entry the jury by escalation on the ground of the prisoner's revolutionary services. He described in graphic terms the bloody attack on Stony Point, by Mad. Anthony, as which the prisoner, then a dare-devil of 19, had distinguished himself, and closed his speech as follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury, will you send to the State prison, for passing a contemptible thirty-dollar forged note, an old hero, of three score and ten, who, in his youth, cheered the heart of his country in the darkest hour of the revolution by storming Stony Point?"

This was the power for the jury, who, retiring, returned after an absence of about two hours, when the clerk went through the usual formula:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have."

"Do you find the prisoner guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty, because he stormed Stony Point!" said the foreman.

The audience applauded, the clerk rapped for order, the District Attorney objected to the recording of the verdict, and the judge sent the jury out again, telling the foreman, in a sharp tone, that they must find an unconditional verdict.

After an absence of a few minutes, they returned, when the foreman rendered the simple verdict of not guilty, adding, however, as he dropped into his seat:

"It was a good thing, though, for the old revolutionary cause, that he stormed Stony Point."—[Chicago Legal News.

W. at the Civil Rights Bill has Done.

The wreck and ruin brought upon the Republican cause in the South by the Civil Rights bill can never be estimated. In North Carolina and Tennessee alone it lost the Republicans ten Congressmen! I seriously doubt whether the Democrats would hold Congress to-day but for the votes they made out of the measure. Talk about intimidation, violence, and fraud! Much as there has been of these, the injury to the Republican cause in the South from all these, and shot-gun arguments thrown in, does not compare with the disasters worked out by the Civil Rights Bill. It caused a revolution, and gave every doubtful Southern State to the whites, and they will hold the advantage gained through the stupidity of the Republicans in Congress. But for that measure Alabama and North Carolina would today be emphatically Republican, to say nothing of other Southern States, and the election of Hayes would not be involved in the doubt that it is.—[H. V. R. in the Cincinnati Commercial.

Feeling with a Rattlesnake.

A man named Nutter was bitten by a rattlesnake a few days ago in Sheerwood Valley while out fishing. The snake was crawling in its hole, and Nutter's companion suggested what sport it would be to tie a fish line to the reptile's tail and drag it home. Taken with the fancy, Nutter undertook the tying job. The snake instantly turned and bit one of his fingers. First the pair killed the snake, and then started for home to get whisky. On the way the wounded man suffered great pain, and his whole arm was fearfully swollen. At last accounts he was getting better.—[Mendocino Democrat.

THEY tell a story of an old business man in this city, who recently found himself cornered financially, and decided to go into bankruptcy. He applied to a lawyer to know how much it would cost to have the papers made out and the business put through. He was told that the expenses would be about $100, and appearing to be satisfied with the price he told the lawyer to go ahead. The lawyer followed in strictures, and when the work was done, called for his little $100. "All right," said the bankrupt, "you can put your claim right in with the others."—[Springfield Union.

A Kentuckian becoming incensed at the boastfulness of an Englishman as to the superiority of British inventions, exclaimed, "Pshaw! They are of no account. Why, a house-painter in my neighborhood gained a door so exactly in imitation of oak, that last year it put forth leaves, and grew an excellent crop of acorns; and another fellow up in Iowa has just taught ducks to swim in hot water, and with such success that they lay boiled eggs!" The Englishman from that time forth exhibited a modest and subdued air.

Talking Barbers.

A man who had been nearly talked to death by loquacious barbers went into a shop the other day which he had never patronized before, and handed one of the artists a card bearing the following words, "Give me an easy shave." The barber motioned him to a chair, and then, turning around, winked at his fellow laborers, and said: "Here's a deaf and dumb un, boys; wants an easy shave." "Well, if you wash him he can't talk," replied one who was waiting for "next." "No, you bet he can't," returned the first. "An easy shave he blowed! Why he's got bristles like a Texas bear, and his skin looks thicker than a canal mule's." The boys laughed and the operator, who in the meantime had lathered the man's face, indulged in further comments as he urged the razor over the facial territory before him. "What a nose that is," said he. "If he should sneeze where would he be?" "Well, his cheek is harder than a razor-hone." "Do you want us to help hold his nose back while you go over his lips, Johnny?" asked another of the idle razor-wielders. "Don't know but what I'll want a little help." "Be careful and don't drop your razor down his ear, or you'll lose it, admonished another. "What a dirty head he's got," observed Johnny, as he ran his fingers through the man's hair. "I say, some of you fellows write a card and ask him if he don't want a shampoo." The card was written and presented to the man, who shook his head at it, and, the job being finished, he arose from the chair. "It's all right, boys," said he, as he laid down his fifteen cents. "I don't mind your talk any. I could sit and sit rate so long as you didn't say anything about base ball, third term, or the whisky rangers." He disappeared and those barbers sat down and thought 't out him.—[Washington Capital.

A young lady in a neighboring town, one day last week, went into a dry goods store and thus unburdened herself:

"It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendages, capable of being contracted or expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Cape May diamonds, and which are utilized, for retaining in proper position the habitment of the lower extremities which innately delicacy forbids me to mention."

The vendor of calicoes was nonplussed, but not wishing to appear ignorant said that he was just out.

After her departure he remained in silence for a few moments, when a new light broke upon his distracted brain, and he burst forth with—

"By thunder! I'll bet that woman wanted a pair of garters."

NEW YORK PHYSICIANS TO GO TO SAVANNAH.—At the meeting to be held at the Gilsey House this afternoon arrangements will be made to send ten or more competent physicians to Savannah to assist the physicians of that city, some of whom are beginning to break down in consequence of overwork. Of course none will be asked to go but those who have already had the yellow fever and are therefore less likely to take it again. It is expected that sufficient funds will also be raised to send a cargo of ice and a cargo of tar acids, besides other necessities, to the afflicted city.

THE Corbin Banking Company had Edward A. Trunk, an office boy who lives with his widowed mother in Williamsburg, arrested yesterday, and he confessed that he had stolen postage stamps and sold them to a receiver in South street at twenty per cent. discount. He said that he had sold over $500 worth of stolen stamps, and that he had spent the money in larger beer saloons, playing roulette and bagatelle. The place in South street is ostensibly a money broker's office.—[New York Sun.

"I ALWAYS did love to gaze on the children in their sports," said Porter, as he pensively contemplated a crowd of urchins: "I am carried back—"

Just then the base-ball came over his way and tried to get into his vest pocket, and doubled him up. When his breath came back he shouted: "You young ragamuffins, you, if I catch you playing ball on the streets again I'll get the police after you." And he moved away and forgot all about his youthful days.

He bought a cheap coat, and he observed next day that it was made of two kinds of cloth, or else it had faded from some previous wear or tear. He went to the dealer with fire in his eyes. The dealer looked at the garment without surprise, and at the wearer with extreme wonder. "Yes, mine goes," said he, "you wear the coat in the sun. You think him mast of sheet-iron, hey?"

A post-mortem examination of the body of a German who died recently at Plainfield, N. H., revealed the fact that the principal internal organs were in a reversed position, the heart on the right side and the liver on the left.

If a young lady has a thousand acres of valuable land, the young men are apt to conclude that there are sufficient grounds for attachment.

Braxton Bragg.

A despatch from Galveston, Texas, announces the death of General Braxton Bragg. He dropped dead yesterday morning, while crossing Twelfth street, in that city, in front of the Post Office. He was sixty-one years of age. His body lies in state at Artillery Hall, and will be taken to Mobile it arrangements can be made with the New Orleans steamers for its conveyance. Gen. Bragg was in his usual health up to the moment of the attack. The cause of his death was syncope produced by organic disease of the heart.

Gen. Bragg was born in Warren county, North Carolina, in 1815. He graduated at West Point in 1837, was appointed a lieutenant of artillery and served mainly in the war with the Seminole Indians in Florida until 1843. From 1843 to 1845 he was stationed at Fort Moultrie in Charleston harbor, and just before the breaking out of the war with Mexico he was ordered to Texas. In May, 1846, he was made Captain by brevet for gallant conduct in the defense of Fort Brown, and in June following was made Captain of artillery. He was brevetted as Major for gallant conduct in the battle of Monterey in September of the same year, and in 1847 was brevetted as Lieutenant-Colonel for gallant conduct in the battle of Buena Vista. From 1848 to 1855 he was engaged in frontier service, and in March, 1855, was appointed Major of cavalry, but declined and received leave of absence. In January, 1856, he resigned his commission, and returned to his plantation in Tibolux, La.

When the civil war broke out he joined the Confederates, was made Brigadier-General and placed in command at Pensacola.—[New York Sun, 27th ult.

Ohio and Indiana.

The following figures show the vote of these two States in the elections of 1868, 1872 and 1874:

Indiana.—In 1868, Grant, 176,518; Seymour, 166,880; majority for Grant, 9,568.

In 1872, Grant, 186,147; Greeley, 163,533; majority for Grant, 22,515.

In 1874, election for Secretary of State: Nef, Democrat, 182,154; Curry, Republican, 164,812; majority for Nef, 17,352.

Ohio.—In 1868, Grant, 280,233; Seymour, 238,660; majority for Grant, 41,573.

In 1872, Grant, 281,852; Greeley, 244,321; majority for Grant, 37,531.

In 1874, elections for Secretary of State: Bell (Democrat), 238,406; Wickoff (Republican), 221,204; majority for Bell, 17,202.

In 1875, election for Governor: Hayes, 297,817; Allen, 292,273; Hayes' majority, 5,544.

MISS KELLOGG.—Smith, though a disappointed man, finds consolation in parting such pieces as this on his scrap book:

You might go behind the scenes at the Opera a thousand times, and if Miss Kellogg was singing, there in the wings you would see her mother with a shawl over her arm, and very often a cup of beef tea in her hand. The shawl is wrapped around the shoulders of "that child" the moment she reaches the wing, and the beef tea held to her lips. She don't trust the maid to do any of these tender offices. No patient was ever watched by a physician with greater care than Miss Kellogg is watched by her mother. Every draught is guarded against, and every article of food selected with an eye to health.

A few days since, one of our popular attorneys called upon another member of the profession and asked his opinion upon a certain point of law. The lawyer to whom the question was addressed drew himself up and said, "I generally get paid for telling what I know." The questioner drew a half dollar "fractional" from his pocket, handed it to the other and coolly remarked: "Tell me all you know and give me the change." There is coldness between the parties now.

Moody and Sankey are soon to enter upon a new series of revival meetings. They will begin the work early in next month in Chicago, where a building for the purpose is in process of erection with capacity for seating a congregation of seven thousand people. If Moody and Sankey can revive Chicago, then they may be instrumental in doing spiritual wonders anywhere.—[Lou. Evening News.

A LOVELY female writes to the editor of the Hartford Times that, "Down at Long Branch, the other night, it actually felt good to pull about three blankets over the still beautiful form of yours truly." And the ungallant editor actually printed the epistle.

Troops that are Not Wanted in the South.

Company D of the Eleventh United States Infantry arrived in this city on Sunday, and were obliged to lay over until Monday. They were from Fort Worth, or some other post in Texas, and on their way to the Indian country in Dakota. A meddlesome Radical politician met the boys soon after they pitched their tents on the hill above the depot, and called out:

"Hurrah, boys, for Hayes."

Not a solitary cheer responded. One of the sergeants stepped out of the crowd and remarked:

"You have made a mistake; we don't cheer for Hayes; we are Tilden men."

"What! you do not mean to say you oppose the men who give you food and clothing?"

"Yes I do. We are tired of Grant and his gang, and as to our food and clothes, we will excuse him for that if he will let us loose."

"Oh! nonsense, boys; you don't mean to go back on Grant and Hayes."

"Yes, we will go back on any man who keeps two-thirds of our boys in blue down in 'Dixie' to keep the white men down beneath the negroes, and who sends a handful of us North to be killed and scalped by the Indians, armed with guns and bullets furnished by Grant's brother, Orvil, and his deputy post traders; and I will bet you a keg of beer that three-fourths of my company are Tilden men."

A vote was taken, and the vote in Company D Eleventh United States Infantry stood: Tilden, 40; Hayes, 4.—[Kansas City Times.

Grant's Opinion on the October Elections.

The President.—If we can carry Ohio and Indiana next month then I think the Democrats have not the ghost of a chance to carry the country in November.

Correspondent.—But how if the Democrats carry Ohio and Indiana in October?

The President.—Then, I take it, Tilden is good as elected. But I do not think that their carrying Ohio is at all probable.

Correspondent.—How if the Republicans carry Ohio and the Democrats Indiana—what is the outlook then?

The President (after cogitating a while).—Then the chances are pretty even for both parties.—[New York Herald.

It is related that a man fell asleep as the clock tolled the first stroke of twelve. He awoke ere the echo of the twelfth stroke died away, having in the interval dreamed that he committed a crime, was detected after five years, tried and condemned; the shock of finding the halter around his neck aroused him to consciousness, when he discovered that all these events had happened in an infinitesimal fragment of time.

Mohammed, wishing to illustrate the wonders of sleep, told how a certain man, being a sheik, found himself, for his pride, made a poor fisherman; that he lived as one for sixty years, bringing up a family and working hard, and how, upon waking, from his long dream so short a time had been asleep, that the narrow necked gourd bottle filled with water, which he knew he over-turned as he fell asleep, had not time to empty itself.

TILDEN'S DEFENSE.—It having been boldly charged by the New York Times that Governor Tilden had been guilty of perjury in swearing to his real income in the year 1862, Mr. Sinnott, who was at that time, and had been for several years previous, his confidential clerk in keeping his law accounts, made a true statement of the facts. Judge Sinnott wrote out a lengthy report of Governor Tilden's accounts, which report completely exonerates him and explodes the slanders and false accusations. It is not necessary for us to publish extracts from it further than to give the figures as made by Judge Sinnott from the record made at the time. The Times alleged that in 1862 Mr. Tilden had an income of $108,000, but only returned $7,118, as every cent of his income for that year. Judge Sinnott, in his report squarely proves that Mr. Tilden was right and the Times grossly wrong. He takes up all the items given by the Times to make up the $108,000, and shows that nearly all of them are mere fabrications and wholly groundless, as Mr. Tilden was not employed by the various corporations stated, as their counsel in 1862, and could, of course, draw no income from those sources. That three-fifths of the thirteen different items, were purely imaginary. That another item of the Times amounting to $25,000 was true only to the extent of a single $1,000, and two other items, amounting to $10,000 each as charged by the same paper, are true, but these Mr. Tilden earned before 1862, and of course it was not chargeable to him as income for that year, as the income tax law was not then in force. Taking the foregoing from the $108,000, with interest and losses added, which occurred that year, Judge Sinnott clearly shows, by facts and figures that Governor Tilden's income as stated and sworn to was only $7,118—nothing less or more. The foregoing is the gist of the report, and it contains in brief the essence and substance of Judge Sinnott's lengthy defense of us pure and honest a man as our country contains.

The Radicals made a great noise about the removal of Union soldiers and the substitution of Confederates for positions in the House of Representatives. The fact is that the Democrats employed more Union soldiers than the Republicans did. Out of 232 appointments there were only 28 ex-Confederates. This is proven by the statement of Mr. Adams, clerk of the House, who gave a full list of the names and the politics of each. This slander is disposed of effectually, let us hear no more of rebels preferring rebel. A more liberal body of men never sat in Congress than the Democrats of the Lower House. Pity it is that the Radicals do not follow this example.

The only baggage now carried around by the Radicalators in Ohio and Indiana is a black carpet bag with a bloody shirt in it. Their other shirt, which they wear next to their hides, is a dirty one. Take that bloody shirt from the Radical Stump speaker and his stock in trade is clean gone. They are making this fight purely upon the animosities engendered by the war. They would revive the bitter sectional feeling and fight our battles over again. In a word, they would see the North and South forever estranged if thereby they could be continued in power.

At the last session of Congress there was a Commission appointed to examine into the question of the fast mail train, and ascertain whether or not the mercantile and business public generally desire it, also to ascertain the sum necessary to run it and leave a fair profit to the railway Company. The Commission was in Louisville this week taking the statements of leading merchants, bankers, newspaper and railroad men. They will visit the Southern cities and having already visited those of the North and West, will return the latter part of this month and complete their report.

That terrible disease, yellow fever, has taken down one tenth of the white male population of Brunswick, Ga., and greater suffering exists there than ever before in the South. We are told that no body is left there to hire nurses, and unless aid goes speedily many will die for the want of attention. We are glad to see the hearts of the people of the North being opened to their relief. In New Orleans there are only eight cases, when a daily, until the city received a thorough cleansing, hundreds of cases appeared. Nothing but absolute cleanliness will avert the epidemic. This has been made manifest on many occasions, and the cities of the South which are liable to be stricken owe it to their well-being to purge every street, alley, cellar, and yard in them. Savannah and Brunswick had neglected these precautions, hence the awful ravages of the fever. Memphis, a few years since, suffered immensely from the same scourge, and she, too, had failed to purify herself. Now that slight frost has been seen in the South, we trust the fever may soon disappear.

A man by the name of LeRoy, living in Wisconsin, threatened to sue Hayes, the Radical Candidate for president, for $1,000, which LeRoy's son, while in the army, gave to Hayes for safe keeping. Hayes first denied knowing the boy, then admitted that he did know him, but said he got no money from him. Then, after being pressed hard by LeRoy with proof, admitted that he got about $100 from him but gave it back to him. The proof is abundant that Hayes did get it. Radicals are pretty folks to be talking about Tilden's false income.

In July last Governor Hayes became a member of a new secret order similar to the old Know Nothing party. Its leading feature is that none but people born in America shall be allowed to vote, except Americans born abroad, and none but American born citizens shall hold any public office. This would have cut off Carl Schurz, one of the great lights of Radicalism. The order is known as the Great American Alliance, and is violently opposed to the Catholic Church.

The boys in true blue met in Indianapolis yesterday, and the thing is immense. They will all vote the Democratic ticket—that is, those who live in Hoosier will vote there and the rest will vote the same ticket in their respective State. It is a meeting of Democratic Union Soldiers who wore the blue honestly, and since the war have laid aside their arms. No bloody shirt will be waved there, but the flag instead of it.

The great bug-bear which the Radical orators exhibit to the people where they speak, is that if Tilden is elected millions of dollars of spurious claims will be presented in Congress and paid. Such an assertion is almost too absurd to think about. They know it to be a base lie, hatched up for political effect.

While no one could have expected that Colorado would go Democratic, as she has always gone Radical, yet there was some hope that she would, in this great year of Reform, do better than give herself over, body and soul, to the party now seeking to destroy the Government.

BARCOCK was acquitted of the charge made against him on account of the Safe Burglary conspiracy. Nothing else was looked for when it was found that some of his most intimate friends were on the trial jury.

Ingersoll, the Infidel Radical orator, made a speech over in Indiana this week and repeated his dirty slang, being near Louisville, a number of the faithful from that city went over to Charleston to hear him.

The real Radical majority in Maine was only a little over fourteen thousand. A considerable falling off from past elections.

GEORGIA, as expected, went overwhelmingly Democratic last Tuesday. How are you, Maine and Vermont?

STATE NEWS.

They make 820 kegs of beer a day in Henderson, Ky.

The Edill County "Silver mines" are not silver mines at all.

A Washington woman gave birth to a child which weighed only a pound and a half.

The farmers of Warren County are to have a Grange Stock sale on County Court day, at Bowling Green.

Gen John S. Williams will make several speeches in the 9th district to help on the cause of Democracy.

The stage from Lebanon now runs through daily to Columbia, instead of stopping at Campbellsville, twenty miles to the side.

Mr. H. L. Julian, of Louisville, who was for many years a prominent banker here, died very suddenly on Tuesday last.

Sim. Montague killed, near Frankfort, a white pelican that measured seven feet eight inches from tip to tip of its wings.

There is to be a telegraph line put up between Bowling Green and another point on Green river, running through Barren county.

The Jessamine Journal will not appear this week, because the editor wants to make a visit to the East.

THERE are now twenty-seven counties in this State which have a Democratic flag and pole. The last one was raised in Rockcastle.

The editor of the Greenup Independent, has been taking notes on horse back through the mountain counties, and he estimates that the Big Sandy valley will produce not less than 10,000 barrels of sorghum.

A young lady of Henderson, the teacher of a school, committed suicide the other day over business troubles. She was a daughter of Wm. T. Short, of McLean county. A dose of land-anum ended her career in a few hours.

The Baptist Association closed at Greensburg last week, after a harmonious session of several days. Rev. V. E. Kitley, formerly of Stanford, says he has attended three Associations in the State during the past six weeks.

The people of the mountain counties are anxious to trade off some of their acorns for hogs. Although there has not been a frost to cut them down, the ground is already covered, and the limbs of the trees are bent and twisted out of shape with their unprecedented load. This is no exaggeration. We actually saw limbs that were broken off from no other cause than the weight of the acorns.—[Bath County News.

The corn crop is being generally harvested, at present, and the yield will be one of it not the largest ever raised in Kentucky. It so far has matured uniformly, and is safe from frost or other damage. Sales so far made, range between 75c and $1 per shock, where the estimate is a barrel to the shock. The price in the main will be ruled by the distilleries which will operate, and the probability at present is that a majority of them will.—[Lexington Gazette.

The Richmond (Va.) Whig says of Della Wilson, the fallen woman who committed suicide in that place last week: "Some of the women said that Della Wilson was a native of Frankfort, Kentucky. She told several of them that she married a naval officer, and had one child by him, and that both were dead. All agree that she was a woman of fine education and refinement, all indicating that she had seen better days." She was about thirty years of age.

The Bath County News says of Jerre Lyttle, one of the leaders of the quondam Breathitt county troubles: Jerre was in Frenchburg when he got there, and is innocent and mild-mannered as any man you would wish to see, but when aroused, he is a tough customer to deal with, as a certain family in his county, the Jetts, we believe, can testify, two or three of whom he has helped off to the happy hunting-ground, while others of them bear evidences of his little love passes. They, in turn, have used Jerre pretty rough, having wounded him high upon death several times. He had on a coat when we saw him, which had in it no less than a dozen bullet-holes, every bullet of which had entered his body. He says a negro way-laid him and shot these into him some three months ago, but was too far off to kill him.

Why is it that over twenty thousand acres of the finest mineral land, possessing the richest ores and as fine timber as Carter, Lewis and Greenup counties afford, with good furnace buildings already established, engine, boilers and other machinery attached, cannot find purchasers possessing the wherewith to at once put things in motion? We have here a railroad already graded very nearly to the Ohio river, and only lack a few dollars commanded by brains to at once put in direct communication with the Ohio river. Here is property worth hundreds and thousands of dollars crumbling to dust; machinery that ought to be making our hills echo with its keepe pipes and turning out twenty tons of iron per day, rusting out and going to decay—why are matters thus? Can the cause be low tariff and no protection, or all protection and no tariff?—[Correspondence Greenup Independent.

FROM TEXAS.

DALLAS COUNTY, TEXAS, Sept. 24, 1876.

The notorious grasshopper, for the last few years well known in the Western States and Territories, suddenly "put in" his appearance in this part of Texas, on the 19th inst. I was assisting some Illinoisans and Texans in threshing grain, when closing operations, for dinner, one of our party called our attention, and on looking up the air seemed full of them sailing leisurely like feathery flakes of snow. Countless myriads were at a considerable altitude moving onward, while others were coming down fast around us, covering the ground thick with them in about an hour. The pestiferous shower continued for several days during the continuance of a brisk north-west breeze with which they came. They were intent on business as they attacked every green thing; stripping peach trees of leaves and fruit, and also cotton of leaves and cutting off many green bolls. Corn having long ago matured, has escaped their ravenous teeth. To what extent the State is afflicted with the plague, I have no means of knowing yet. They are not as large as our old fashioned Kentucky grasshopper, but have much better use of their wings, and are very familiar—flying into your face and nose, and can even be found in your bed chamber among your bed clothes. Texans don't seem to be frightened at them, but they say wheat will have to be sown late to keep them from devouring it.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP ITEMS.

CATTLE on the market here last Monday sold from $2.25 to $2.75 per hundred.

THE great St. Louis Fair is now being held. The premiums amount to $50,000. We heard of the sale of a small bunch of fat hogs, for November delivery, at $1.50.

We can hear of no bunches of mules feeding in this county for the Southern market.

CORN in some of the Southern Kentucky counties had been sold for $2.50 per barrel delivered.

A MARIION county man raised two crops of the Ives Seedling Grapes this year. We have never heard of the like before in this climate.

It is said that there will be six million pounds of wool sold at Corpus Christi, Texas, as the produce of this single year of 1876.

A number of fine shorthorn cattle will be offered at public sale in Lexington in a few days. Several breeders will unite their herds in the sale.

NEARLY one half of the corn in this county has been cut already. The corn cutters say they have never had to carry such heavy arm loads before the season.

W. B. WITHERS sold to parties from Clark county 18 3-year old cattle at $46 per head. Nick Lacey sold to the same parties 50 head of the same kind at $44 per head.

We venture to say that those 5 cent cattle over in Fayette are not better than several bunches in the hands of our Lincoln county farmers. Let buyers come over and look at them.

We see from the papers over the Kentucky river that fine fat cattle have sold there recently for 5 and 5 1/2 cts. This should be encouraging to our holders of fat cattle. They are bound to advance.

SMUGGLER, the famous trotting stallion, beat the horse of Judge Fullerton in three straight heats at Mystic Park the other day. Smuggler is destined to take the place of Old Hambletonian in the trotting stud.

THE editor of the Lebanon Times and Kentuckian has seen two Bermuda Sweet Potatoes raised in that county which weighed nine and ten pounds. Those who have "small taters and few in a hill" will have to stand back.

For the first time in a number of years, the bluegrass woodlands are covered with all kinds of nuts, such as hickory, walnut, chestnut, sweet acorns, &c. The children will have a delightful time in nutting this Fall.

SUCH is the immense crop of acorns in all our mountain counties, that if fifty acres of mast-bearing trees were fenced off, there would be enough mast to thoroughly fatten twenty-five head of hogs without any other food whatever.

J. B. OWENS has an Alderney Bull which he will "farm out" at $5 per cow, and allow the farmer to breed to him until his cow has a calf. His animal is thoroughbred, and this breed is known as the best milk and butter stock in the world. The animal is convenient to town.

CAPTAIN J. M. HUGGINS reports sold last Monday the following stock, &c.: 1 yoke cattle $50; 1 horse $86; 1 yoke cattle $75; 1 mare $85; 1 mare $90; 1 mare $10; 1 yoke cattle $75; 1 yoke cattle $80; 1 milk cow $27.50; 1 calf $2.50; 2 steers $40; 1 pair mules $190. He reports only about 100 head of cattle on the market.

On last Friday, Mr. E. L. Davidson, of Washington county, shipped to Lexington, Ky., to be sold on the 10th of next month, fifty-six head of fine Shorthorn cattle, among which are four bulls, six or seven young calves, and the balance aged animals from one year to six years old. Mr. Eli B. Brown, of Washington county, had them in charge.—[Times and Kentuckian.

TIMOTHY J. GORE has bought Wm. Ferguson's cattle at 5c per lb., to be taken in December. They are said to be the finest lot in the county. The same gentleman bought of Allen Presitt and John A. Thompson, of Montgomery, a lot of cattle that averaged 1,545 lbs. George Harleman's 30 head sold to same party at 4 1/2c, weighed 1,573 lbs. One steer 1,975 lbs. James Bush sold his lot of extra cattle, 120 head, to H. Quisenberry of Clark, at 5c.—[True Kentuckian.

Market Changes.

Look out for the fall advance in Coffee. Sugar shows signs of awakening. The Coal Oil excitement has reached its climax. It now smells of a huge "ring." The foreign demand for America's bread-stuff will elevate the price of cereals. Holders of the Hog crop need not give away the gentle porcine for fear of low prices. A few weeks ago dealers figured at 4 cents, now 5 cents is thought of as the probable average price. The outlook for fat cattle is encouraging to producers and feeders. Surplus bacon and lard ought to be worked off now. Potatoes are very low in the Southern market. For once it is thought that Kentucky has made ample vinegar enough for home consumption, and holders needn't give it away. Kentucky has also raised apples enough for home use—and to spare.

We are now selling soda ash for making our "2-cent soap" for 6 cents a tin. Special low figures offered on tin and Japanese ware, and bird cages. Special bargains offered in Willow hampers for soiled clothes.

A nice Tea Canister and one pound of prime Green Tea, for one dollar.

The finest Jelly Glass in the market, at one dollar per dozen.

Genuine Shaker Brooms—these that sweep clean, are now offered at 25 cents.

Coal Oil has made a further advance. Retaining now at 50 cents.

We want a few thousand pounds of good fall at $2.50 in trade.

Remember our superb sprouting hoe at one dollar.

Fancy Groceries.

We take especial care to keep our stock of Fancy Groceries complete and fresh.

Fresh pickles, chow-chow, mustard, salad dressing, celery salt, flavoring extracts, acids, spices, raisins, currants, citrons, etc., sold at regular grocery margins.

Fresh Baker's Chocolate, Cox's Gelatine, Royal Dedicated Coconut, Durkee's Salad

Dressing, Oswego Corn Starch, National A. A. Cream Tartar, Lemon Sugar, etc., received lately.

Hardware.

The attention of blacksmiths is called to our new horse nail, the Stout. Price per box, $4.50. It is a perfect nail, and of uniform size.

The latest novelty out, is a 50 cent kitchen cator, made of tin, nicely japanned and braced, with air tight boxes, which by a neat contrivance, are made to fit the contents of the box. The cator is designed for use in the kitchen, and will prove a great convenience. Call and see them.

A new stock of cutting boxes and corn shellers, offered at reduced prices.

8 of bags, flasks, powder, shot and wads, are now in demand. The bottom is out of these goods.

Our stock of shelf hardware, tools, cutlery, novelties, etc., will compare favorably with any stock in town as to extent, and the cash-in-hand principle enables us to make the very lowest prices. Mechanics and builders are invited to examine and price.

Special orders for wagon and carriage materials, blacksmiths' tools, etc., taken on the smallest possible margins. We have complete price lists and catalogues of all goods in these lines, which are open for inspection. "Live and let live," gentlemen.

The best time in the world to buy edge tools and cutlery. Special bargains offered now.

A big stock of Pocket Cutlery offered at 20 per cent. discount on regular prices. Call and buy a good knife for little money.

Blacksmiths will do well to get our prices on Iron, Steel, Nails, Shoes, Plow Moulds, Bolts, Raps, etc.

The new patent animal yoke for breechy stock, is a valuable invention, and everlastingly cures the average fence-jumper of his breechy propensities.

Miscellaneous.

Get one of our Novelty Apple Peelers—the best in use.

Jack Frost, Esq., has reminded us to mention the following as seasonable: Stove pipe, Stove polish, Grate pans, Coal hods, shovels and tongs, grate trivets and zinc. Call and get them immediately.

We have the very best Dollar Axe in the market, but especially commend the celebrated Kelly Axe, manufactured in Louisville. Price, $1.25. Also a new stock of Axe Handles of Kentucky timber.

We are again prepared to furnish families with Cakes from Glicker's Nice Jelly, Rolls, Lady Fingers, Jambles, Tea Cakes, Pound Rolls, Sponge Drops, Ginger Bread, &c.

Buggy Wheels from $9 to $12 a set; Buggy Shafts from 75 cents to $1.50 per pair. The largest stock of Iron, Shoes, Nails, &c., ever brought to Stanford.

The small grain sowing season suggests Collars, Hames, Chains, Buckbands, Bridles, and Baskets. Price our stock.

OUR TWO-CENT SOAP.

Beige.—Put into an iron kettle five gallons of soft water, to this add five pounds of Pure Soda Ash, and three pounds of unslacked Lime; boil the mixture three quarters of an hour; then dip all out into a tub, draining the tub, and let it sit until it settles (the lye will rise quite clear), then dip it off, put into your kettle: to this add three gallons of refuse grease, measured and boiled from two to three hours. If solid or rich grease is used, add one fourth less. You may try it by dropping a little in a saucer, and if, hard, it is done. You may then pour it into a tub, let it remain until next day, then cut in bars to suit yourself.

STROKE THE BIG BONNIE. CURED Holland's Grippe.—Put "Lone Jack" in your pipe.

You Get the Best Soda In one pound packages.

We have the Best of Twist Tobacco manufactured of Laurel county bright leaf. Attention is called to our quotations of Groceries and Hardware, elsewhere.

Toilet Soaps of a dozen different varieties at from 50 cts to $1.25 per dozen. German Soap at 50 cts per dozen. Irish and India Soap at $1.00 per dozen. Soda Ash Soap at 50 cts per pound.

Why the people use Turkish Bath Soap: 1st. One cake will outlast two cakes of any toilet soap in use. 2nd. It imparts to the skin a soft, velvety appearance and keeps it in an active and healthy condition. 3rd. It never chaps the skin, and will cure skin diseases. 4th. In every essential it has no equal. 5th. It is so cheap.

WONDERFUL Success—It is reported that BROTHER'S GENUINE SHIRT has, since its introduction in the United States, reached the immense sale of 40,000 dozen per year. Over 1,000,000 shirts have been sold in this medicine sold from the Factory, at Woodbury, N. J., and not one has reported a single failure, but every letter speaks of its extraordinary success in curing croup, Coughs, Colds, settled on the Breast, Consumption or any disease of Throat and Lungs. We advise any person that has any predisposition to weak Lungs, to get this medicine, or inquire about it. Regular size, 75 cents; Small Bottle, 50 cents. Two doses will relieve any case. Don't neglect your health.

MR. DANIEL F. BEATTY, manufacturer and proprietor of the Beatty Piano and Beatty's celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organs, Washington, N. J., is certainly a very reasonable and generous man to transport business with. He makes this very fair proposition to any who may favor him with an order, as follows: "If the instrument does not prove satisfactory after a test trial of five days after receiving it, the purchase money will be refunded upon the return of the instrument, and he will pay freight charges both ways." This is certainly an exceeding, generous, and safe manner in which to transport business with him. He warrants his instruments for six years. See his advertisement.

THERE are thirteen apple brandy distilleries at work in this county now. There will be over 10,000 gallons of brandy made by them during the season.

We learn that the expenses of the county as shown by the record of the Court of Civil Cases this week, are nearly if not quite $2,000 less than the preceding year.

WILD pigeons, squirrels, and other nest eating birds and animals will fatten and thrive through the coming winter. Their labors in gathering stores will not be severe.

A good chewing Tobacco at 90 cents a pound. The homeliest lot of Pipes and Cigars in the city. Also genuine Virginia Smoking Tobacco. All at WEARDEN & EVANS.

JOSE BRINKENRIDGE is now holding the Common Pleas Court in Lebanon, and is giving great satisfaction. He will hold his Court here the first Monday in January.

We learn that there was another shooting up again in the upper edge of this county beyond Crab Orchard the other day, between a man named White and some one else. No particulars were given.

I HAVE several fine Red Berkshire pigs for sale, at a reasonable price. There hogs are known to be the best variety, as they fatten early, and are very thrifty.

PARSONS take notice that Wearden & Evans have on the road, direct from the factory, near the lot of the celebrated Fish Brothers' Wagons, selected and loaded, and proven to be the best wagon on wheels.

FIVE shares of Stock in the National Bank of Lebanon were bought this week by a gentleman of this county, at $100 per share. The price was for sale in either of the National Banks here at any price.

The case of Charles vs. Sims, appealed from this county, was argued by the Court of Appeals last week. The decision will set the wisdom of Sims out of doubt except as to the surplus after the payment of debts.

At the present term of the Rockcastle Circuit Court one scene was sent to the penitentiary for three years for stealing, and one white slave for stealing horses. There are 14 prisoners now in the Mt. Vernon Jail.

The colored brass band of Stanford, played a stirring piece of music as they passed through town last evening on their way to Crab Orchard, where they have been engaged to play for a festival. They made very good music.

GRASS, or rubber gloves, are much worn by school children who have to tramp through the mud and snow five or six days in the week. Protect your feet from mud and moisture by buying a pair of them cheap at Hayden Brothers.

Our Court of Claims convened on Tuesday and were in session during that day and Wednesday. The usual allowances were made, which we presume the Court will have published, according to law.

The construction train on the C. & S. R. R. ran, and killed, one day last week, a fine thorough bred cattle, valued at $500, belonging to Mr. S. C. Owens. A gentleman from another State had just arrived at his farm to purchase them. Of course the Company will have to foot the bill.

The crowd was in town last Monday, but there was only a small amount of business done. Although times are hard, our people seem to be hopeful for better times coming. The Court did but little business beyond settling a private passway, and granting of letters Testamentary.

OUR Attorneys have been pretty busy during the last two weeks in taking depositions and otherwise preparing for Court which will convene next Monday week hence. There is the smallest Appearance Docket prepared that has been for years. Less than seventy-five in all, of the Equity and Law.

LADIES would consult their best interest by wearing woolen underwear. In this changeable climate of ours—one day dry, the next wet, next hot then cold, they dry up to take a severe cold unless protected by woolen under clothing. The Hayden Brothers have a full line of that goods at all prices.

No one who will visit the Store House of Hayden Brothers, will fail to be impressed with the fact that they have brought to this market for Fall and Winter sales, one of the most extensive and elegant stocks of goods ever offered to the buyers of this part of the State. As their goods were bought for cash, at very low figures, they will be enabled to sell them at prices unusually low. We call attention to their conspicuous advertisement in another part of our paper.

MR. STERLING GRIMES, formerly of, and native of this county, but for ten years past a resident of Texas, has been here on a visit to friends and relatives for some weeks. He speaks highly of his adopted home, to which he will return in a few days. He is County Attorney of the county where he lives.

No matter how nicely a man may be dressed otherwise, if he has not on a neat shoe or boot, his whole appearance will be injured. The truth is, a nice Hat is the chief ornament of a man's dress. Hayden Brothers have now in store an extensive assortment of Hats and Caps, and they invite you to come to see them.

Our efficient Clerk of the Circuit Court, Mr. D. B. Edmiston, was married last evening at Kirksville, Madison county, to Miss Etta, daughter of J. B. S. Frisbie, of that place. We presume the young couple will come to Stanford in a few days, where a host of friends are anxious to welcome them. Rev. J. B. Deering, of Danville, officiated.

A PEDDLER of dime novels and prize candy packages came to grief in town the other day. Marshal Stagg got wind of him as he sallied forth among the colored folks of Macksville, and, overhauling him at the junction he was forced to admit peddling without a license, and paid for the same $5.00. The way of the transgressor is hard.

No county in the State is more prolific of ancient curiosities than Lincoln. The Indian mounds in the vicinity of McKinney's Station, and around Huestonville, bear rich treasures of the kind. In fact, some of the specimens we have seen bear unmistakable evidence of the Stone Age—long before the Indian could have had a foot-hold here.

MR. HENRY BAUGHMAN, of this county, who delivered the iron bridge and trestle work on the C. & S. R. R. between Shelby City and Fishing Creek, is now hauling the iron for the Cumberland river bridge and trestle. He uses three or four heavy wagons, and has not met with an accident yet on the entire line. The material is shipped from this point.

THE flowers that so beautifully adorned the front yards of a number of our citizens during the Summer, have been put away into winter quarters to remain until the Sun and rain of Spring call them forth again. A good pit in the ground with glass sash, will enable many of them to bloom on late into the winter, and keep the others secure from frost.

MRS. M. E. DAVIS will have a grand opening of fresh, beautiful, and choice Millinery goods today and to-morrow at her store rooms on upper cross street near the Depot. The ladies of town and vicinity are cordially invited to be present and inspect the same. It is the largest and most elegant assortment she has ever brought to this market.

DEER are reported by men from Whitley and other counties on the Tennessee line as coming in this early and in considerable numbers. They are supposed to come from the Cumberland Mountains to feed in the rich herbage and mud of Eastern Kentucky. One gentleman said he saw six in one bunch and four in another in the far edge of Whitley county.

We have received the second copy of the Elizabethtown News, now published by that old newspaper man H. M. McCarty. If he don't make the News a lively paper it will be the first time he ever failed in a similar enterprise. He knows all about a paper and will do his duty. The people of Hardin and adjoining counties should do their best toward him.

We wish to do our duty to our readers by favoring their attention to the splendid stock of furniture at Hayden Brothers. Bedsteads, Lounges, Tables, Chairs, Mattresses, marble top wash stands and Bureaus. You can get any article of furniture there you want at Cincinnati prices. Go, Ladies, and look at them anyhow.

NORTHMAN gives the house more comfort, while appearance than a neat, warm carpet on the chambers, parlors and sitting room. They are indispensable. While visiting the Store of Hayden Brothers on Wednesday, we were invited into the second story, and there found a large assortment of many kinds of wool carpeting, which for beauty of design and price we have never seen excelled.

There was a shooting scrape at Crab Orchard last week between Grove Kennedy and another man, in which neither was hurt, but a shot struck a bystander in the head, inflicting a slight wound. Kennedy and the other man fired five or six times each, across a store room, but strange to say neither took effect. An overcoat hanging at the side of a door had a number of bullet holes in it.

We presume that as the day is getting much shorter the railroad company will change the time of the arrival of trains in the evening from Louisville. Unless such a change should be made during October, it will be nearly night before we can get our letters and papers from the cities. The morning train arrives too soon for this season of the year, and we trust that it will come later.

If there is any thing to make an impudent fellow feel blue, it is for him to look over a lot of fresh, well made ready clothing. He will come nearer spending his last dollar on a suit of it than any thing else. And, by the way, the world always recognizes a well dressed man with pleasure, and treat him with dignity, while the ragged, sooty chap gets the cold shoulder.

Hayden Brothers have a vast stock of ready made clothing, a great part of which is in suits of all colors and fabrics, and at prices within the reach of all. An examination will convince you of this truth.

If there is one thing that gives delight more than another, it is a nice dress. With that, even the homeliest face is made to appear pretty and attractive. Receiving an invitation from the Hayden Brothers to visit their mammoth store the other day, we gladly accepted and was first shown over the dress goods department. There we found all of the new styles in fabric and colors. Their Broadways and Diagonals are lovely. All the new shades of the style called Basket dress goods, are very attractive.

In the Cashmere line we saw the Navy Blues, Bottle Greens, Seal-Browns and Blues of every hue, shade and texture. Black Alpaca and Mohairs, they have in endless quantities and varieties.

Those chilly sensations which one feels, especially in damp weather, can be prevented by wearing one of those heavy, all wool shawls at Hayden Brothers.

We neglected to return thanks to some of our Granger friends who, a few days since, after showing their choice fruit in the Granger Hall, presented us with some of the largest, finest, and best apples we have seen in old Kentucky. We are glad to be so kindly remembered, and thank them now.

A. M. SWOPE, Esq., of Paris, Ky., addressed the citizens of this county, according to appointment, in the Court House here last Monday. He spoke for about two hours to a large crowd, who listened attentively. We must do Mr. Swope the credit of saying that he is a fluent speaker, and has a good delivery. As a Republican speech it was all that his party could have desired. He is a man of portly appearance and excellent manners. The crowd had become somewhat wearied by the time he closed his speech, but a large number remained to hear the reply of Mr. Chevis, a Democratic speaker, who made a very cogent argument and showed the utter fallacy of many points made by Mr. Swope. The speech was sound in Democratic doctrine and we are sure that Mr. Swope failed to make a single convert to Radicalism.

FROM Mr. James N. Reynolds, Jr., who was at Mt. Vernon last week, we learn that the Records of the Rockcastle Circuit Court, which were supposed to have been lost by the burning of the Clerk's office and other public buildings there some years ago, have been found. The grand-jury of the Rockcastle Circuit Court got on the trail of the Records, and last week their foreman, Mr. Ashby Owens went about three miles from Mt. Vernon, and in a cave found the books, which he brought to town safely. This was quite fortunate.

Jim Berthman, a desperado, charged with many offenses, was caught in a distant part of the country and safely lodged in jail there. He and his brother Dane are both now in Danville.

Last Saturday, the faithful Democrats of Rockcastle County had grand pole and flag raising and the pole, over a hundred feet high, was raised without break and tacks. The stalwart arms of our hardy sons of toil needed no mechanical aid in the good work, and the pole and flag were raised with ease.

A large crowd was in attendance. As a report had been circulated that it was to be a rebel flag that would float from the top of the pole, after the honest old standard stripes went up, with Tilden, Hendricks and Reform on its folds, Mr. Bard, the speaker, asked the people to look upon it, and said that it was a "rebel flag," but that it only rebelled against Radicalism, thievery, and all and all efforts to disgrace that flag. Three cheers were given for the flag and Tilden and Hendricks and Reform. The flag is 40 by 18 feet in size, and is very handsome. The best order prevailed—Three cheers for Rockcastle.

Circuit Court is still in session and although it has been busy all the time, no cases of importance have, up to this time, been decided. The case of McFerran for murder, is now (Wednesday) in trial, and will consume the remainder of the day.

The Commonwealth made out quite a strong case against McFerran, and it is likely, if the jury don't hang, (which is very probable) that his sentence will be severe. No civil business has yet been done, and if the Court goes into the trial of the Woodall rape case, none will be transacted this term. The Grand Jury up to this writing have reported forty-five indictments. This is a considerable improvement over last Court, as for that term 290 were found. The Grand Jury of the Spring term seem to have been composed of men laboring under a chronic desire to get as many people into trouble as possible without, in many cases, sufficient grounds. Indictment after indictment was found, and the consequence is that this term of the Court has been occupied in quashing them to the exclusion of other business.

Judge Oswald was called home on Friday last by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his child, and has not since returned. Judge Fox, of Danville, was elected special Judge, and looks natural as if, occupying his old position.

There were about four indictments against each of the druggists, here, for selling liquor without license, but not a single case was made out by the Commonwealth, and druggists are happy. The bar-keepers think it's a hard case though.

Our old friend, W. B. Hansford, of the "Horse Whet Net," intends commencing, shortly, the publication of a newspaper, at Monticello. He has purchased a portion of the type and fixtures necessary, and is now negotiating for the remainder. His intent, we learn, to make it a strictly home paper, and in the main will espouse politics but as he is a red-hot prohibitionist, we suppose he will give the Rev. Green C. Smith a lift, occasionally. The people of Wayne should hail with delight, the advent of a county paper, and we have to doubt if Bro. Hansford will receive a hearty support in his enterprise. We sincerely hope so.

We have it from reliable authority that the iron bridge at Fishing Creek is at last under bridge. Won't the "Keens" be never get here? There must have been bad management somewhere or that bridge would have long since been completed. Strikes us that the Trustees are not in such a hurry as they pretend.

We notice the fine horses of your countryman Henry Baughman hauling iron to the Cumberland bridge. They passed through town yesterday, and many were the expressions of anxiety to own the same kind of stock by those who know good ones when they see them.

MARRIED—Miss Mary A. Surber, to Betty Dickinson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rufus Meese.
